Additional Notes

The enclosed file contains the Office of Oil and Gas Management's proposed web site content for demonstrating its IJA activities. Due to the ever evolving nature of this initiative, we recommend an accordion layout; yet for purposes of this "draft" review process, we've had to use a "Table" format to generally illustrate the separation of headlines/content.

The column appearing on the left column represents the headline content that will appear in the intro block for each accorded section, while the content appearing on the right hand side of the table represents the content that appears once the accordion is opened by the viewer.

Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions. Thank you.
